

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair to-day; tomorrow partly cloudy and warmer; moderate northeast winds. Highest temperature, 59; lowest, a below. Forecast weather reports will be found on the editorial page.

The Sun AND THE NEW YORK HERALD

VOL. LXXXVII.—NO. 154—DAILY.

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1920.—Copyright, 1920, by The Sun-Herald Corporation. Entered as second class matter, Post Office, New York, N. Y.

116 PAGES PRICE FIVE CENTS In Greater New York Elsewhere 10 Cents.

ALLIES INSIST WAR CULPRITS MUST BE TRIED DUBLIN CASTLE SEIZES CHIEFS OF SINNFEINERS

Council Refuses to Be Swayed by Threats of Revolution in Germany.

French DETERMINED TO BRING DOWN BRITISH GOVERNMENT TOWARD EX-KAISER CRITICIZED STRONGLY.

LIST OF MEN SOUGHT BY PRINCE RUPRECHT, DUKE OF WURTEMBERG, AND MARSHAL MACKENROTH.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1920, all rights reserved. DUBLIN, Jan. 31.—The Castle will come to tear it down," said one Dubliner to another yesterday while the Sinn Fein flag flew over the City Hall in defiance of Dublin Castle. "And they'll not," replied the second. "They'll not notice it for a week, and then they'll deliberate, and by the time they have done that they'll be used to it."

Double Game Is Charged. French opinion has been much perturbed by the recent—almost indifferent—attitude of Great Britain toward bringing the ex-Kaiser to trial.

First Move of Government. This is the first move of the Government in the campaign to defeat Sinn Fein control of the local boards following the defiance of the Government in Dublin and elsewhere yesterday. It was taken because the authorities are confident that a Sinn Fein outbreak and general rebellion is impossible now, although it might not be later. It is hoped further that quick action will forestall a crisis pending the discussion of the home rule bill in Parliament two weeks hence. It is admitted that these tactics may be described as provocative of Ireland, but it is insisted that this is better than the bankruptcy and disorder to which the recalcitrancy of the Sinn Fein local councils was driving the municipalities.

Republicans Uncompromising. The incident is significant of the uncompromising attitude of the republicans. They admit frankly that they have no hope of recognition from the British Government, and they are determined to force the British labor delegation to agree to Irish separation, and the declaration of Mr. Aquin that home rule alone is possible.

Those Who Are Demanded. These names head the list: Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria, charged with leading women and girls from Germany to his army in Germany. The Duke of Wurtemberg, commander of the Fourth Army, charged with massacre of civilians at Namur and Belgium. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, commanding the First Army, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras.

Sanders Is Among Them. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras. The Duke of Saxe-Coburg, charged with having put to death soldiers of the Allies at Arras.

Protestant Laymen Gather. FORTAUNE, Jan. 31.—The National League of Protestant Laymen, to consider the whole task of the Protestant churches of North America at home and abroad was organized here to-day with some two hundred delegates present from all parts of the country.

Downtown League Lauds "The Sun and Herald." THE Downtown League, representing nearly a thousand business houses, tenders its felicitations and well wishes to the publishers of THE SUN and HERALD, and believes that the combination of great circulation, superior journalism and the welfare of its readers makes this an epoch without parallel.

The writer has been a student and patron of THE SUN and HERALD for over thirty-five years and knows the value of each. DAVID ROBINSON, President Downtown League.

A Personal Word to Our Readers

I have deep concern about this first issue of the amalgamated SUN and HERALD. I should have liked to make it a thoroughly representative number, but with the confusion of bringing two great newspaper forces together it has been impossible.

Moreover we have been literally overwhelmed with advertising—so much more of it than we had counted upon that our mechanical departments are strained to the breaking point. Naturally I am very happy over this splendid manifestation of generous cooperation on the part of our representative advertisers.

With less advertising we should have had room for more reading, but as it is we shall have more reading than most of you will care to wade through if you feel on this point at all as I do.

With zero weather and the influenza to contend with this has been an especially trying time to undertake the prodigious work of consolidating these two great newspapers. But we made the plunge and here is the result—not all I had hoped for, but a lot better than the suspense of inaction.

We have an amalgamated paper now to work on, to improve, to polish and perfect. To this task we shall give the best there is in us. And in this purpose I want to tell you of the fine loyalty of both THE SUN and THE HERALD newspaper forces and to tell you too of their enthusiastic cooperation with me in bringing about this union. It is their hope and my hope that in the amalgamated SUN and HERALD we shall give you in due time a thoroughly worthwhile newspaper—a newspaper of wide scope and sound purposes.

FRANK A. MUNSEY.

FIFI WIDENER ELOPES AT 17

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Widener Wed in Tennessee.

C. R. LEIDY, BRIDEGROOM

Young Man Is Eighteen and Son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Leidy of Philadelphia.

Special Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—To the great surprise of society, it became known here to-day that Miss Josephine Pancourt Widener—known to her friends as "Fifi"—daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener and granddaughter of the late Peter A. B. Widener, once head of Philadelphia's traction interests, had been married to Carter Randolph Leidy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Leidy, of 1313 Locust street and grandson of the late Dr. Joseph Leidy, who was one of the foremost surgeons in the United States. The marriage took place to-day in Knoxville, Tenn.

Dr. Joseph Leidy, father of the young man, was unwilling to go into details about the wedding. He said he did not know whether the engagement of the youthful couple had been announced and that he was unable to say whether any members of either family had attended the ceremony. The young bride and bridegroom are both in their teens. Last spring, when Mr. Widener in New York and Mrs. Widener in Lenox, Mass., were issuing denials that their daughter had been taken to Lenox and put under close watch to check the development of a supposed love affair, Mr. Widener declared his daughter was only 15 years old and Mrs. Widener said she was "not yet 17." The bridegroom is 18 years old.

The bride is heiress to one of the wealthiest estates in this city. Her parents' home is Lynwood Hall, Elkins Park, last spring they took her to Lenox, where so it was said, she could find a climate more favorable to her throat. The reply is stated, accepts in principle the Supreme Council's offer of January 16, is only request being for supplemental information.

RUSSIANS ACCEPT ALLIED TRADE OFFER

Agree in Principle, but Want More Information.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The directors of the Central Union of Russian Cooperative Societies at Moscow have sent a favorable reply to the proposal that commercial relations between Russia and the Entente be opened up through these societies, to a limited extent, according to the newspaper to-day. The reply is stated, accepts in principle the Supreme Council's offer of January 16, is only request being for supplemental information.

TWO POLISH ARMY CLASSES MOBILIZED

Called to the Colors to Meet Bolshevik Advance.

WARSAW, Jan. 30 (delayed).—The Polish army classes of 1909 and 1901 have been called to the colors. A report from Warsaw published January 25 by the Polish press stated that the Polish Cabinet had issued a mobilization order, taking this action because of the Bolshevik advance.

BOLSHEVIST FIRES TO SWEEP EUROPE, SAYS VON GWINNER

Celebrated German Financier and Director of Deutsche Bank Says America Is Guarded by Atlantic Now but Her Turn Will Come Later.

By RAYMOND SWING.

Copyright, 1920, all rights reserved.

BERLIN, Jan. 30 (Delayed).—The gloomiest statement of Germany's future was given to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD to-day by Arthur von Gwinner, Germany's most prominent financier, a director of the Deutsche Bank and one of the promoters of the Baghdad railway scheme, which helped to precipitate the war. He referred to Newton's theory of gravitation and compared the decline in the price of the mark to the same law. "Why has the mark declined practically to zero?" I asked him. "Because of the law which Newton discovered 300 years ago—that a body falls with greater acceleration the nearer it comes to the ground," he said.

"Another reason is that your President was not able to say at Versailles, 'We have a contract with the Germans, and unless we can keep this contract, we must retire; for without redeeming our pledge civilization cannot be rebuilt.'"

"The fires of Bolshevism now are ready to incinerate Poland. They will sweep all Europe. Right now, you in America are, perhaps, safely guarded by the Atlantic, but you will have your day with the Bolsheviki later."

Calls Poles Rabble Too Feeble to Resist. "Who is going to hold off the Bolsheviki in Europe?" he asked. "The Poles? That rabble? The Poles have not been capable of organized effort for years—for centuries. Here in Germany it is proverbial. When there are three men in a discussion and all of them try to talk at the same time it is called a 'Polish Reichstag.'"

"The Poles led by a music master—Ignace Jan Paderewski—have amassed a national debt in astronomical proportions like the German debt. Two hundred millions of marks, isn't it? And they had no part of the Russian debt nor any indemnity to pay."

"The Polish fabric will be torn until there will be nothing left of it. There is no government to replace the present German Government. The Right wing is incapable of taking charge and the Left stands for Bolshevism. What else can come but civil war? And all this is because your President, with his knowledge of Europe and geography, was content to make on the continent a Balkan peninsula."

"Frank Vanderlip of New York city spoke the truth in his book on what was happening in Europe, although he had not been in the Central Empires nor in Russia. An Englishman, Mr. Keynes, saw it coming and retired from a position with the peace mission."

"If a man tears your coat do you knock him down and beat him to within an inch of his life?"

Says Germans Will Fight Rather Than Starve. "Here we sit in a room none too warm. If coal be too expensive to be purchased in unlimited quantities by the wealthy, how must it be with the middle class? A few years ago they enjoyed comfort and plenty on incomes ranging from six to twelve thousand marks. How do they exist now? What does the official who has a few hundred marks a month do when he goes to buy a shirt and finds that it costs a hundred and eighty marks? He goes without the shirt."

"To-day the streets in Berlin are filled with men in uniform because it is the only clothing they possess. When these uniforms are worn out what will these men do—what will happen?"

"They will stop you and me in the street and take our clothing and our shoes."

Herr von Gwinner spoke of the effects of poverty in Germany on the public health. "The infant mortality in Berlin has increased 50 per cent. because babies, when born, are wrapped in paper, there being no clothing for them. Only wealthy Germans can afford linen to-day."

"Men do not die of starvation without a fight. They will fight. Do not be deceived by the gayety you see here. During the French Revolution they danced every night, and so they are dancing here. "All this is because we Germans allowed ourselves to be badly governed, and our bad government made one great error. It did not tell Russia that we would do nothing to obstruct her work in achieving her aspirations in connection with Constantinople. Had that one word been spoken the mobilization of Russia would have been against Turkey—not against us."

Herr von Gwinner was asked if he did not think that the problem could be solved through a foreign loan. "Whatever negotiations hitherto have been begun showed not only

36 ARE INDICTED WITH HAYWOOD

I. W. W. Members Charged With Plot to Overthrow U. S. Government.

EXECUTIVES IN THE LIST

Action Taken by Special Chicago Grand Jury—Each Bond Fixed at $5,000.

Special Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Thirty-seven members of the I. W. W. and other radical organizations are named in indictments returned secretly to-day by the special Grand Jury which has been investigating the activities of radicals in Chicago.

The true bills were returned before Chief Justice Crowe. Prominent among the leaders charged with conspiracy to overthrow the Government under the new State law are William Haywood, former secretary of the I. W. W. organization, and Tom Whitehead, who served in Haywood's office while "Big Bill" was in the Federal penitentiary.

Five members of the executive committee of the I. W. W. are among the men indicted. They are George Speed, its chairman; Henry Bradley, George Bradley, Fred Nelson and Charles H. Miller.

Rosecoe T. Sims, one of those indicted and who is said to be the leader of the negro I. W. W. and radicals, is a janitor in the City Hall.

The bond of each man was fixed at $5,000. Haywood and Vladimir Losoff already are on appeal bonds from the Federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth. Speed has completed one term at that institution.

The serving of papers against the I. W. W. brings the total of indictments against radicals that the present Grand Jury has issued up to 160. Previously the jury had caused the arrest of eighty-five members of the Populist party and thirty-eight of the Communist Labor party.

State's Attorney Hoyne announced that John Ballan, a member of the national executive board of the Communist Labor party, warrants for whose arrest were issued both in Chicago and in Boston, entered a plea of guilty in Boston, where he was arrested. The State will await the outcome of the Boston case before attempting to extradite Ballan to Chicago.

Prof. Ernst Freund of the department of law in the University of Chicago and Mrs. Clara M. Schevill, said to be the wife of a professor of foreign languages in the university, signed the bond of Joseph Shafit, who was secretary of a branch of the Communist party in the district surrounding the University of Chicago.

There was an inclination to rise shown then and at 10 o'clock one degree above was registered. The forecast for to-day included a hint that warmer weather is due.

REDS OFFER PEACE OR WAR TO RUMANIA

Soviet Troops to Advance if Terms Are Refused.

VIENNA, Jan. 31.—Despatches from Bucharest state that the Bolsheviki are waiting at the frontier to offer peace terms to Rumania. If the terms are refused, the advance of the Soviet troops will advance.

The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt is the best natural saline aperient prescribed by physicians all over the world. Write for booklet to the Carlsbad Products Co., Carlsbad, 30 West St., New York.—Adv.

TREATY IN SUSPENSE; G.O.P. MAY ACT FIRST; ITS STATUS IN DOUBT

WILSON SEES NEWS MOVIES

Gets First Glimpse in Many Months of Current Events of Country.

CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

President Does Some Walking, but Passes Most of Time in Wheel Chair.

Special Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—President Wilson got his first glimpses in many months of what is going on in the outside world in a news when motion pictures of current events were shown to-day at the White House. The pictures were of general subjects, being the ordinary news weekly pictures thrown on the screen throughout the country.

Motion pictures recently have been one of the President's diversions, and they have been shown through a projector rigged up in the White House. Several motion picture plays have been given, but this is the first time that current events have been displayed.

Mr. Wilson is able to walk around the White House a little, but most of the time he passes in his wheel chair. His improvement in health is said to continue slowly. Inquiry at the White House developed the fact that as yet there is no plan for the President to go away from Washington to hurry along his recuperation. It still is believed, however, that before many weeks he will go to some Southern resort where he can have quiet and rest and at the same time be able to enjoy the open air.

INFLUENZA JUMPS THROUGHOUT U. S.

Malady Is Less Virulent Than Epidemic in 1918.

Special Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Telegraphic reports of health conditions throughout the United States received by the Public Health Service to-day indicate a slight increase in the number of influenza cases over yesterday. At the same time the officials are encouraged by the general report from all sections that the character of the malady is less virulent than that encountered in 1918 by many degrees.

That it is the same disease as that which dealt death from one end of the United States to the other in 1918, but in a vastly modified form, is the opinion of the specialists of the Public Health Service, who point to the suddenness of its development and the remarkable area covered within a few days which marked the sweep of "flu" two years ago. The Public Health Service has received reports from the Pacific Northwest, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Nevada, Arizona, California, and Texas, which indicate that the disease is now in this diagnosis of the revived plague.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Assertion That Two-thirds

Vote Is Necessary to Bring It Up.

CLOSURE RULE ENDED

Subject to Unlimited Debate if Again Presented to Open Chamber.

DEMOCRATS GIVE NOTICE

Hitchcock Will Ask Action Feb. 10, but Republicans May Move Earlier.

Special Despatch to THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The whole peace treaty contest in the Senate is in a state of suspense and uncertainty. One reason for this is the peculiar parliamentary situation respecting it turning on some of the Senate's reports. Early in to-day's session of the Senate Senator Walsh (Mon.) arose, and with the explanation that he spoke in behalf of Senator Hitchcock (Neb.), who was out of town, served notice that on Tuesday, February 10, Senator Hitchcock would move to take up the treaty for the Senate's consideration, thus carrying out the programme adopted when the efforts to procure a compromise failed yesterday.

The announcement occasioned no discussion or inquiry, so far as concerned proceedings on the floor. All day long conferences and cloakroom discussions of the situation were in progress. The most impressive of the reports circulated was that long before February 10 a move will have been made on behalf of the Republican leadership to take up the treaty and that it probably will prevail. The announcement occasioned no discussion or inquiry, so far as concerned proceedings on the floor. All day long conferences and cloakroom discussions of the situation were in progress. The most impressive of the reports circulated was that long before February 10 a move will have been made on behalf of the Republican leadership to take up the treaty and that it probably will prevail.

Thus Would Preserve Control.

While several Senators intimated that this course might be adopted, Senator Lodge (Mass.), Republican leader, would not discuss the suggestion further than to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up the treaty before February 10 pointed out that by this plan the Republican leadership would keep the initiative in its own hands, instead of surrendering it to the acting Democratic leader, Senator Hitchcock. It was explained that affirmative control of the situation might prove of the greatest importance as a matter of strategy and tactical necessity.

Managers on both sides the party also are busy studying and chasing the influenza, and the suggestion further that to say that of course it was one of the things that might happen and to indicate that if the treaty was brought up at all, it would be without any objections.

Senators who contended that a Republican move would be made to take up